Tonecia.Brothers-Sutton@jacksonlewis.com

Tonecia Brothers-Sutton is an associate in the Baltimore, Maryland, office of Jackson Lewis P.C. Her practice focuses on representing employers in all aspects of workplace litigation, including wrongful termination, retaliatory discharge, and discrimination and harassment based on race, color, sex, age, religion, national origin, and disability. Tonecia's practice also involves providing preventive advice and counseling.

As a former broadcast journalist, Tonecia advocated for her local community by telling their stories and reporting on legislative issues. Today, she continues her advocacy efforts for employers. She strives to connect with clients in order to understand their story and provide strategic solutions tailored to their goals.

Prior to joining Jackson Lewis, Tonecia interned for the Hon. Elizabeth Morris in the Circuit Court for Anne Arundel County. While attending law school, Tonecia served as the executive symposium and manuscripts editor for the Journal of Business and Technology Law. She was also a member of the National Trial Team, winning the 2022 American Association for Justice Regional Competition.
