

Construction Industry Workplace Law Update – Spring 2023

By Michael R. Hatcher, Kristina H. Vaquera, Poonam Sethi,

March 30, 2023

Meet the Authors

Michael R. Hatcher

Principal
(703) 483-8328
Michael.Hatcher@jacksonlewis.com

Kristina H. Vaquera

Office Managing Principal and
Office Litigation Manager
(757) 648-1448
Kristina.Vaquera@jacksonlewis.com

Poonam Sethi

Keeping Up With the Changing Law Restricting Employee Competition in the Construction Industry

The legal landscape is rapidly changing with regards to restrictive covenants used by employers to protect against unfair competition and solicitation by current or former employees. This is especially true for employees in safety-sensitive positions or who work on government contracts subject to federally mandated compliance. Read full article...

OSHA Focusing Enforcement Efforts on ‘Vulnerable Workers’ at Construction Sites

Top leaders of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) have detailed new and upcoming enforcement efforts to protect “vulnerable workers” (i.e., immigrant, minority, female, and lower-paid) who may be more vulnerable to workplace hazards. Read full article...

OSHA’s Plans for the Construction Industry

The Occupational Safety and Health Administration’s (OSHA) Directorate of Construction Director Scott Ketcham gave a review of the agency’s focus on the construction industry at the American Bar Association’s 2023 Midwinter Meeting of the Workplace and Occupational Safety and Health Law Committee on March 10, 2023. Read full article...

Bureau of Labor Statistics Releases 2021 Construction Industry Fatality Injury Data

Construction and extraction occupations accounted for the second highest number of occupational deaths out of the total 5,190 fatal work injuries recorded in the United States in the 2021 calendar year, according to the Census of Fatal Occupational Injuries, part of the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) Occupational Safety and Health Statistics program. This marks an 8.9% increase from the 4,764 fatal work injuries reported in 2020. Read full article...

The Do’s and Don’ts of an OSHA Visit at a Construction Site

Avoiding workplace hazards in the construction industry may be next to impossible, but it’s critical to ensure the health and safety of employees, as well as maintaining compliance with potentially dangerous OSHA regulations. Listen to the podcast...

Please contact a Jackson Lewis attorney if you have any questions about any of these developments.

(Pooh-numb Say-tea • She/Her)

Associate

914-872-8012

Poonam.Sethi@jacksonlewis.com

Related Services

Construction

Corporate Diversity Counseling

Restrictive Covenants, Trade

Secrets and Unfair Competition

Workplace Safety and Health

©2023 Jackson Lewis P.C. This material is provided for informational purposes only. It is not intended to constitute legal advice nor does it create a client-lawyer relationship between Jackson Lewis and any recipient. Recipients should consult with counsel before taking any actions based on the information contained within this material. This material may be considered attorney advertising in some jurisdictions. Prior results do not guarantee a similar outcome.

Focused on employment and labor law since 1958, Jackson Lewis P.C.'s 1,000+ attorneys located in major cities nationwide consistently identify and respond to new ways workplace law intersects business. We help employers develop proactive strategies, strong policies and business-oriented solutions to cultivate high-functioning workforces that are engaged and stable, and share our clients' goals to emphasize belonging and respect for the contributions of every employee. For more information, visit <https://www.jacksonlewis.com>.