Justin Sassaman is an associate in the Dallas, Texas, office of Jackson Lewis P.C. His practice focuses on representing employers in workplace law matters, including preventive advice and counseling.

Justin's passion for employment and labor law started after his first year of law school when he worked as a Summer Associate for Jackson Lewis in the Dallas Office. He came back the following summer, and he knew this is where he wanted to be after he graduated from law school.

Justin spent his final semester of law school in Washington D.C. as a Law Clerk for the United States House of Representatives Committee on Oversight and Accountability.

Prior to college and law school, Justin was a professional umpire in Minor League Baseball for seven years. On his journey to the Major Leagues, he ascended to the AA level. When Justin is not in the office, you can find him on the golf course with his friends or watching college football somewhere in Dallas.
