Jillian Vallejo is an accomplished associate specializing in labor and employment litigation. Jillian's practice focuses on defending and advising employers in workplace law matters, including wage and hour practices, class actions, discrimination, retaliation, and wrongful termination lawsuits. With a keen focus on labor and employment litigation, Jillian brings a wealth of knowledge and a high level of expertise to her practice. She is dedicated to providing exceptional legal services and advocating for her clients with integrity and professionalism.

She graduated magna cum laude from the University of California, Berkeley, with a degree in Legal Studies, demonstrating her strong academic foundation and dedication to the field of law.

Continuing her legal education, Jillian attended the University of California, Davis School of Law. During her time at UC Davis, she was honored with the prestigious Law in Technology Diversity Collaborative Fellowship. Additionally, she received the Reynoso Cruz Academic Excellence Award for her outstanding achievements in Legal Research and Writing, ranking top of her class.

To gain practical experience, Jillian was an In-House Counsel Summer Intern at Lyft, where she developed valuable insights into the needs and operations of an in-house legal department. This experience has equipped her with a unique perspective and a comprehensive understanding of both litigation and in-house legal requirements.
